Aid Wings

humanitarian organization

For the Aid Wings identity, i focused on transforming a universal symbol into an active gesture. While the dove is the timeless emblem of peace, a standard bird felt too passive for your mission.

i redesigned the wing to sweep upward and outward, mimicking the shape of a human hand reaching out to help or shelter someone in need. This transforms the logo from a simple picture of a bird into a visual story: Aid Wings is not just observing; it is actively extending a hand to uplift communities.
